

P130

2PPCLI in Korea photo collection. – 1950-1988. – Ca. 1000 photographs.

This collection consists predominantly of photographs of the 2nd Battalion of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry (2PPCLI) during the conflict on the Korean Peninsula from its formation on August 7, 1950 to the signing of the Korean Armistice Agreement on July 27, 1953. Includes a few images taken after the war. The 2nd Battalion was the first battalion of the PPCLI to arrive in Korea (December 18, 1950) serving with the 27th and 28th British Commonwealth Infantry Brigades until replaced by the 1st Battalion PPCLI on November 4, 1951.

Reproduction or publication of the images requires permission of PPCLI Regimental Museum and Archives.

Portraits of individual members of PPCLI are located in P400.

Additions to the collection are expected.

Oversize items:

- OP130(1)-1 A “dried up rice paddy,” Korea. – 1951 May. – Inscribed on the back: Our rest area, after 61 continuous days in the line, a “dried up rice paddy.” Forever remembered by those who rested there as “Flint’s Folly.” (Major George Flint made a recce to select the rest area, after Kapyong. Note the jeep immersed up to its axle in mud). Sgt. Trenter, Support Company, lit up the night by burning 90 gallons of gasoline in a fruitless effort to silence what seemed like a million frogs. The morning after our big blow out, I saw 6 soldiers in a row, hands on the man in front, being led to the MO. They were so drunk, they fell into the rice paddy and blinded themselves, mud in the eyes. – Same as P130(33)-1. – Located in map cabinet 3/4.
- OP130(2)-1 Pats moving into position. – [ca. 1951]. – Same as P130(16)-4. – Located in map cabinet 3/4.
- OP130(3)-1 View of the hills around Kapyong, Korea. – [ca. 1951]. – Located in map cabinet 3/4.
